

UCF-NSCM Film and Mass Media Student Activities on Football Game Days

On Game Day for UCF Football home games, campus typically closes early to make way for pregame activities. Despite this taking place on campus, Film and Mass Media students are still permitted access to the Film and Mass Media Production Facility (Broadcast and Film) for course-related activities using their key card access.

Because of the presence of tailgating by the general public, the Nicholson School of Communication and Media building is cleared and locked by the university police. Once the building has been secured, DO NOT PROP OPEN ANY DOORS OR FACILITATE THE ENTRY OF ANY UNKNOWN INDIVIDUAL TO THE BUILDING. All guests must be escorted into secured buildings by a UCF student, faculty, or staff member. Students should always carry their UCF ID card on them. If stopped and questioned by police, students should explain that their course-related production activities have been designated as “official university business” by the Vice President of Communications and Marketing at UCF and that the Deputy Chief of the UCF Police Department has been made aware of this business need. If directed to leave the building by a police officer, students should do so immediately and without argument. They should then notify their instructor-of-record.

UCF students, faculty, staff and their escorted guests can use parking lots and garages designated as “Free Parking” which are marked as blue zones in the map below.

Details for regarding the closing times for each specific Game Day can be found at www.ucfgameday.com.
